colleges to send their submissions by March 15. The folks in Evaluations need two weeks to process students' applications. Lee added that each affected student is notified multiple times. Hueg noted that while our numbers for AA/AS degrees have declined, it's mostly because students are completing ADTs; our ADT numbers are still very good.

Kaupp noted hearing from a number of folks that students finish what they need (e.g., to transfer) even if this doesn't mean completing a cert. or degree. Believes there is value in encouraging more students to actually complete cert./degree requirements.

Second read and possible action will occur at next meeting.

Speaker: Ben Kaupp

Kaupp presented a short slideshow summarizing the discussions CCC has had on this topic. The group hasn't discussed process, but in terms of makeup of the new Foothill GE pattern consensus seems to be:

Lifelong Learning: remove from GE pattern but continue to encourage students to take these courses, despite no longer being required.

Natural Sciences: desire from STEM division to keep lab requirement, noting consensus seems to have gone back and forth. Some other divisions seem to be okay with removing lab requirement. Parikh shared suggestion from faculty member to remove lab requirement and also allow each dept. to determine GE requirements for their own degree; acknowledged this is not an option but wanted to share feedback. Gilstrap noted only small number of courses will be affected if lab requirement is removed, as most courses have embedded labs.
