Request for Professional Development Credit

As the co-coordinators of the Research and Service Leadership symposium, our goal is to develop a platform and showcase for student work, to guide students toward the completion of projects, and to facilitate the event by utilizing the contributions of faculty and staff as mentors and thought leaders.

Several attendees at the recent R & S Faculty Workshop suggested that we could facilitate greater involvement by offering some form of credit for faculty and classified staff, as we do for opening day workshops.

We would like to formally request Professional Development Credit for activities related to the R & S
